bose acoustimass 9 manual

Your system features new third generation Acoustimass cube speaker arrays, a product of the continuous research and development at Bose Corporation. These cube speakers deliver more lifelike sound and better overall performance, yet are smaller than their predecessors. Opening or removing covers may expose you to dangerous voltages or other hazards. Please call Bose to be referred to an authorized service center near you. 15. To prevent risk of fire or electric shock, avoid overloading wall outlets, extension cords, or integral convenience receptacles. The module delivers the bass for all channels and sends appropriate sounds to each cube array. The sound mix varies with different program types dialogue is. Note Bose wall brackets and floor stands can extend your placement options. See "Accessories" on page 13. Please follow wall bracket instructions carefully. Proper mounting will insure optimum performance from your system. Be sure there is at least 2 inches 5 cm between the opening and any surface. Each cable connects to the module with a single plug. Each has an individual plug on the module end. 1. The wire marked R connects the module to the right surround speaker on your right as you face the TV. Make sure all cube arrays are connected to the proper terminals according to their position in your room. Integrated Signal Processing assures full bass reproduction for all channels regardless of receiver settings. However, the table below suggests a set of recommended receiver settings. Figure 9 Use either the optical or coaxial digital sound cables and connections for Dolby Digital sound. If you still have a problem, contact your Bose service. The Acoustimass 9 was never sold as a stand alone speaker system, it was sold as the bass module for the original Lifestyle 12 system. You can get more information about the LS12 HERE. To connect the wires to the speakers, connect the red wire to the red terminal and the black wire to the black terminal on the back of each speaker. Connect the wires from the system input cable connector to your surround sound receiver. Connect the red wires to the red terminals and the black wires to the black terminals of each corresponding speaker output on your surround sound receiver. Screw the front right and left speakers into the wall at least three feet from your center speakers. Screw the rear left and right speakers into the wall parallel to the front right and left speakers. That is, it requires amplification for each channel. I found the slider, removed the 2 screws and knobs but cant figure out how to get the cover off. Any advice Login to post The way I would set it up only because of the speakers you have according to the Acoustimass Manual. The Onkyo is designed to have a powered subwoofer so in this format you would just tell the receiver to turn off the sub channel which would tell the Onkyo to send the low end to LR. That should do it. If that fails, try unplugging both power cords for the system for about 30 seconds. If you are not getting sound output, the internal fuse may be open and you will have to replace it. Bose used a heavy multiple output cable terminated in a miniature DIN plug to connect speakers. You may be able to find one on eBay. Media center Setup DVD. Antenna stand. Stereo cable. Video cable. Speaker cable. Module cable. There is a couple of issues that I can see to start. Second issue is volume controll of the amp which comes from serial data, however this is also bypassable with some effort. I will let you know how my project progresses Now I finally got my hands on the system. Unfortunately it seems like the sub is AM9P. The prior owner had a really crappy repairjob on the input cable the 8pin DIN cable. I cant understand how he have connected this. Pins 3 and 5 are the grounds for the two channels. The important ones are of course the ones for serial Data and turnon voltage. Make sure they are correct. And by the way, the reference you found for the male 8pin DIN connector is correct. Sorry for pasting someone elses thread on here but it may help. By the way, the male jack is it the one which is connect to the cable. Please correct me if I am wrong. Thank you. I think I have a bad capacitor in there somewhere. Would you kindly to guide me the wires should be connected from my CD player to this sub model. It has 5 pins female connector on this sub. I will do it myself to make this cable link if anyone would help me out for this matter. Thanks for your time Computers 2,549 Laptops, Car Audio 255 Head Units.
